Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 15 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
A largely fine and dry day, with sunny spells.

Today:
A dry start with sunny spells through the morning. Into the afternoon spells of sunshine continuing with some patchy cloud arising. Feeling pleasantly warm in the sun and with light winds. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Tonight:
Some late sunny spells into the evening and staying dry. Overnight, cloud increases from the west, with clear spells developing again later. Perhaps some fog patches in most prone locations. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Thursday:
A largely dry start with spells of sunshine through the morning. Perhaps the odd isolated shower into afternoon, with sunny spells between. Remaining rather mild. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Increasing cloud bringing outbreaks of rain for a time on Friday. Sunny spells on Saturday with perhaps a few showers. Often cloudy on Sunday with some showery outbreaks.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.